We are learning about how story mountains can help us to plan our ideas.

- Firstly, can you fit the story of the three little pigs or Charlie and the Chocolate Factory onto a story Mountain. Was there a twist where things went wrong near the end, but then were sorted out before the final scene?
- Secondly, can you tell a grown up a story about your favourite super hero (your own story or a film you know). Can you fit the story into the story mountain? Or did it have lots of twists and turns? Do the twists make it more exciting?
- Lastly, can you have ago at writing a short story (either in words or drawings)? Maybe a story about a dog getting lost, or a kid jumping into a computer game?

Topic: Anti-Bullying

We are thinking about how we feel when someone is mean to us or when we might do something that upsets someone else.

How do you think a person might feel before, during and after they hurt someone?

What is he thinking?

What does he do?

How does he feel after?

Here are some ideas about how to cope when you feel like someone has upset you. Can you think of more?

How to Deal with Bullying Behaviour Flash Cards

Here are a few ideas about how you can manage bullying behaviour or people that may be unkind to you.

The flashcards can be used separately or you could hole punch the corner and tie them together making a little book so you can search through the ideas when you need to.

Be confident and happy!

Play with your true friends.

Trust an adult. Speak to them and ask for help.

Try to stay calm.

Think about what you can say to stop them hurting you.

PRACTICAL TASK

Please can you create an anti-bullying poster. You could use cartoons or superheroes to get your message across.

For example:

Please feel free to send me pictures of your child working on the various practical activities, including their finished products, you may also take photographs of any written work and email me these, I will then mark the work and reply with feedback.
